the challenge of change

2007-2008

Anno Domini

A student publication of Redeemer University College

God, give us grace to accept with serenity the things that cannot be changed...

courage to change
the things which should be changed...

and the wisdom to distinguish the one from the other.

It's always exciting to see another edition of Anno Domini. On behalf of the Redeemer community, I would like to express our thanks to our editor, Angie Poot, and the yearbook team for all the work they have done to make this year's edition of Anno Domini a reality.

As the pages that follow reveal, it gives creative expression to what makes Redeemer such a unique Christian academic community. This past year we enjoyed a wonderful range of activities and events--scholastic, cultural, athletic, social and spiritual, including significant opportunities for volunteering, serving and sharing the love of Christ. Taken together, they have provided a rich context for whole person development.

2007-08 was Redeemer's 25th anniversary year, giving us the opportunity to reflect on how the Lord has blessed Redeemer not only this past year but also since it opened in 1982 with 97 students and 8 full-time faculty. With our recognition as a provincial university and the addition of an accredited teacher education program, we have experienced remarkable growth, with 885 committed students this year taught by 45 full-time and 39 part-time faculty members.

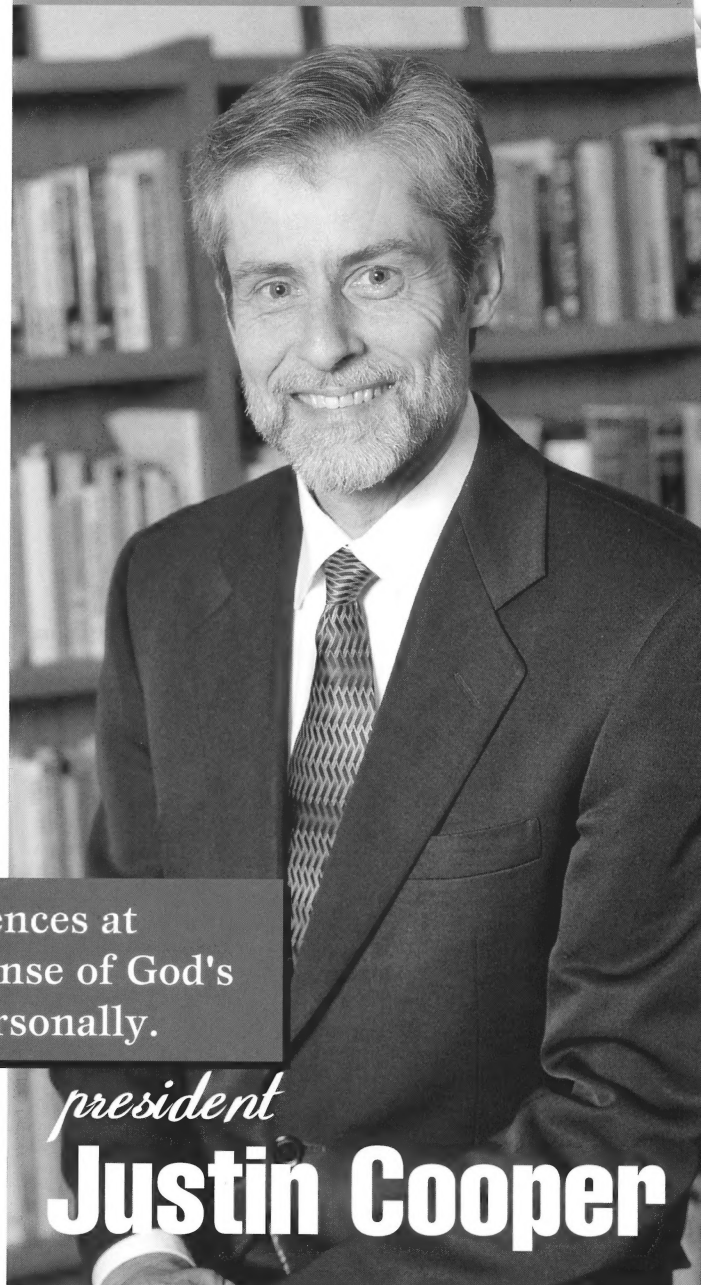

We give thanks for the diversity of our student body, coming from across Canada, 8 U.S. states and 8 other countries and representing some 40 denominational backgrounds. We are also thankful for our dedicated faculty and staff who share Redeemer's vision for relating faith to learning, work and living.

Finally, we also thank the Lord for improvements to our campus in the 2007-08 academic year made possible by the generous donations of our supporting constituency, who are like a faithful cloud of witnesses, surrounding our campus with their prayers, good will and financial support. We were able to upgrade our website and install new signage around campus and in the academic building. We are still working on the completion the interpretative trail system and the second soccer field as part of the conservation and recreation park on the north end of campus.

In keeping with our celebration of Redeemer's 25th anniversary, our theme for 2007-08 was Great is Gods Faithfulness.

I hope that your learning and experiences at Redeemer this year have expanded your sense of God's faithfulness both institutionally and personally.

May this volume bring back wonderful memories and reminders of that journey. And whether you are returning for further studies or beginning a new vocation or program of studies, may this continue to be your testimony.

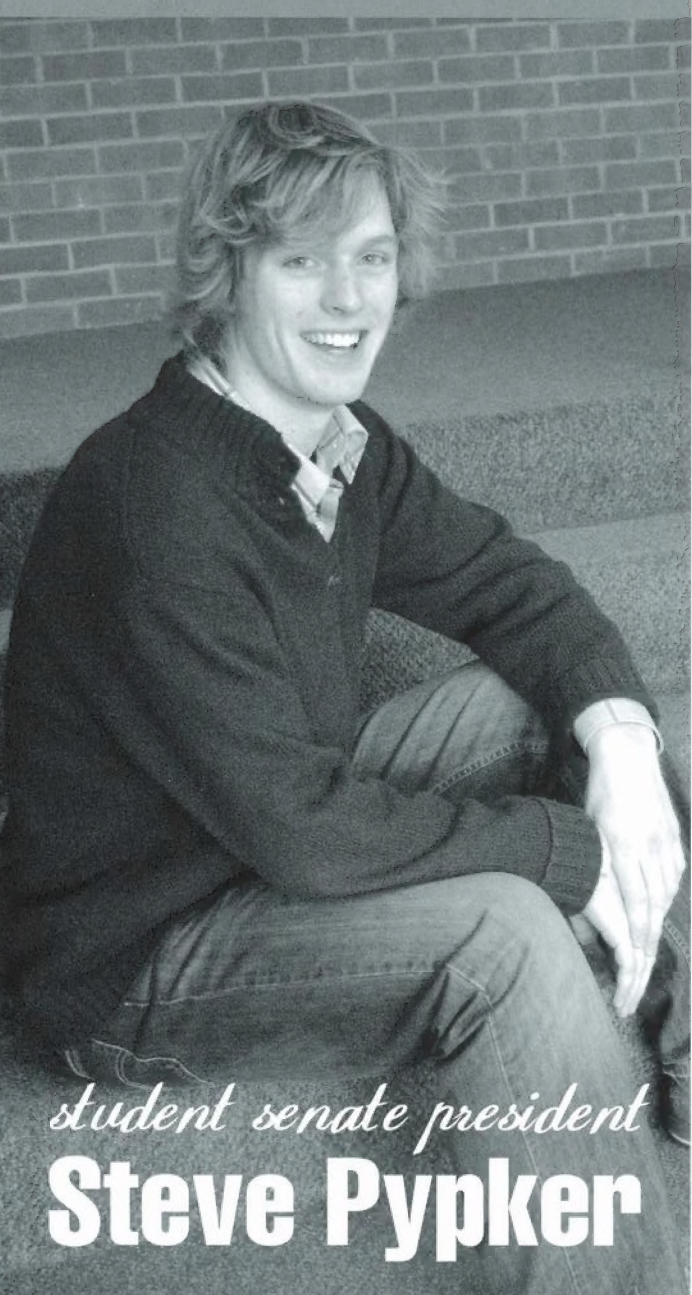

With a speed akin to the unapologetic Roadrunner, another academic year at Redeemer has come and gone.

However, this school year has had a lot more to say than a quick and teasing meep, meep. It has been a year dense with excitement and disappointment, joy and sorrow - at various levels. Relationships have grown and deepened; however, we have all been let down at times and let down others too. Small windows in our understanding of God's world have been opened; yet we are still corrupted by the fallen nature of our finite thinking. Through these types of struggles we ache for complete redemption, trusting in God's great faithfulness that he will finally make all things new. In our experiences here at Redeemer, the joy of witnessing God's re-creative handiwork is evident despite the present reality of our fallen world. This is particularly evident in our call to be community to each other.

The communal and holistic growth I've been blessed to witness on our campus over this past year is a testament to God's faithfulness. God has been faithful through the continuation of many activities and events that contribute to the growth of Redeemer's community, such as the Frog Olympics, Church in the Box, the fall and winter retreats, Choir concerts, Volleyball Games, the Hamilton Missions trip (and others), the Marva Dawn lectures, mainstage drama productions, Coffeehouse and Chapel -- to name a few. Through the hard work of many students and staff in our community, God has also shown His faithfulness in bringing about some exciting new events including the Social Justice Conference, Chaplain's Dessert, Environmental Stewardship week and the Battle of the Bands. We have been blessed as a community with club leaders, RAs and HAs, athletes, faculty, and staff that involve themselves in the life of Redeemer with dedication. As Senate President I've had the unique experience of working with twelve other senators, who have enthusiastically played an important role in the growth of community here at Redeemer.

As you leaf through the following pages of memories from this past academic year, it is also an opportunity to reflect on how God has grown Redeemer since its establishment 25 years ago. As has been shown, there is so much to be thankful for. For the past 25 years, Redeemer has been a community struggling to bring Gordon Spykman's phrase -- "nothing matters but the Kingdom, but because of the Kingdom, everything matters" -- to bear on our academic pursuits. This truly is an incredibly unique blessing to have witnessed, thanks only to God's great faithfulness.

I trust that through the ups and downs of your experiences at Redeemer, God has revealed how solid and un-shifting His faithfulness is. May this comfort alone be your source of strength as you step out seeking God's will to discern your place in His world this next year, and in the years to come.

Allowing for change takes a leap of faith. Trusting that the change will be for the better is easier said than done, however when we allow ourselves to be open and flexible, we are often rewarded through experiences where we grow as individuals.

Redeemer has went through many changes since it's first beginning 25 years ago. The campus has moved, population increased, gained university recognition, underwent renovations, and more.

The students, faculty and staff have also changed, either by increasing the amount of knowledge in their heads, or simply maturing. Though it may be difficult, it is important to embrace these opportunities for change. If we don't, we may find ourselves stuck in a rut and discontent.

Although we all love student life and the many events that take place at Redeemer, the main reason we attend is for the academics. It may be the least favourite part of Redeemer for some of us, but it is definitely one of the most rewarding! It is this time in the classroom that leads to great careers and fulfilled dreams!

studies abroad

England

Studying in England provides many opportunities, including being put in the stocks. But it's not all bad, there's always London and Stonehenge. Just give yourself plenty of time, trains always run late.

Battle of the The Bands

drums bass guitar competition

The evenings contained quite the battle as various groups and individuals competed for the ultimate prize. The winning band would get the opportunity to open an Article One concert later in the year. The cafeteria was packed with students who were prepared for a fun-filled and loud evening. Due to the amount of talent that filled the place, three winners were ultimately chosen: Ember Union, Land of Canaan and Allosaurus. Great job to all who participated!

"To experience a 'normal' life one must live with blinders on, ignoring the mass injustices that exist in the world today. Nevertheless, one cannot live a full life, nor a Christian life, in such a false reality. One must open themselves up to the injustices in the world, both in one's day-to-day life and across the globe, dig deep, and get dirty in spreading the peace, love, and joy of Christ in both word and deed."

Quote from Craig's Facebook profile

Craig loved many things, including curling, the French language, ice cream, politics and cooking.

Craig was a great friend to be around. He always made time for those around him.

Craig wasn't your average student. He worked extra hard and went beyond what was required.

He was majoring in Business Honours Management and Political Science.

Craig worked especially hard during his year as Senate President. Under his leadership the structure of Student Senate was redesigned. He took the time to meet with and encourage each member in the work we had to do.

Remembering Craig Allan Vanderveen November 1, 1985 - June 28, 2007

He was a familiar face always wandering the halls of Redeemer. Although so busy with Senate duties and the workload of being a 4th year student, Craig would always take the time to stop and talk in the hallway or lend a helping hand. Through his life and death Craig has touched many. He was a classmate, a friend, a student, a fellow employee and a brother in Christ. While never being the outwardly emotional type he would not want us to be sad in his death but to rejoice in His life, and the Saviour whom he served. Craig would encourage us all to live a life that glorifies God and to take the gospel message seriously and spread it to this world.

(from Robyn Hogan)

Craig was clearly a man of the people: anyone fortunate enough to have known him will attest to that. One of the remarkable things about Craig was his humility; despite his leadership capabilities, his academic prowess and his incredible popularity, Craig was always humble and serving. Truly, Craig understood and embodied the Christ-like pattern for leadership.

(from Chris De Winter)

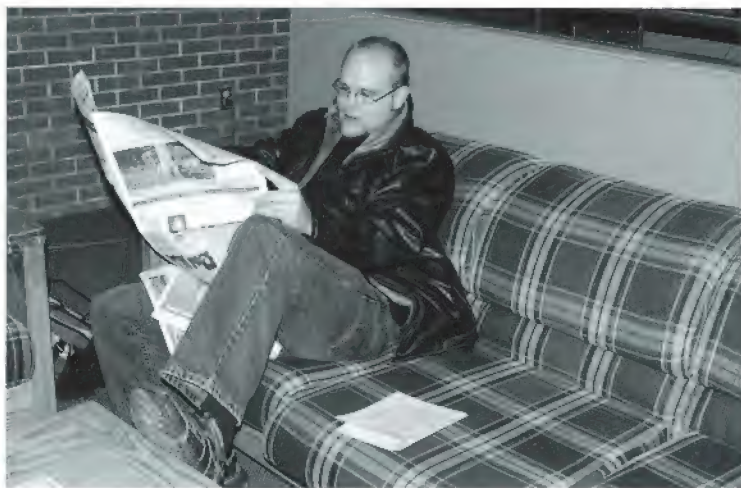

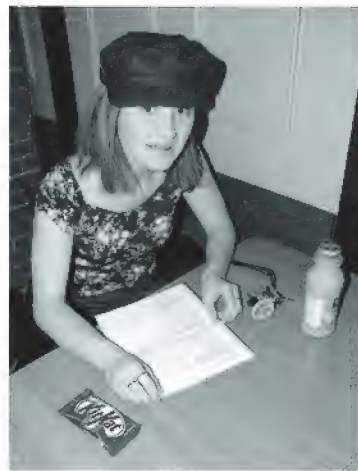

Born in Carman, Manitoba, he was a son to Allan and Anita, and an older brother to Scott, Dylan and Ashley.

"Make wise choices" -- a favourite saying that he often used when parting with friends. These words define him well.

Staff. They're critical to our experience no matter where we go. We watch and learn from them, talk with them, ask questions and grow intellectually, emotionally, and spiritually. They may or may not be our professors, but they fulfill their jobs with enthusiasm and joy, helping to make Redeemer the community it is. Thankyou for all that you do.

Scattered across the page are several solid black circles of varying sizes. In the upper right quadrant, there is a faint, light gray grid pattern consisting of squares and rectangles, some of which are slightly tilted or offset from each other.

Here's to the crazy ones,
the misfits, the rebels,
the troublemakers, the round pegs in the square holes-- the ones who see things differently--they're not fond of rules. You can quote them, disagree with them, glorify or vilify them, but the only thing you can't do is ignore them because they change things, they push the human race forward, and while some may see them as the crazy ones, we see genius, because the ones who are crazy enough to think that they can change the world, are the ones who do.

F.R.O.G. Olympics ORIENTATION WEEK

Orientation is one action-packed week dedicated to first years. This first week of university life is filled with new information and activities that help first years get to know Redeemer and their fellow students. First years can meet their faculty advisors, get familiar with the campus and learn about clubs and activities. Orientation week helps students transition easily as they move from home to university life.

During the first week, first year students are divided up into FROG groups. Here they can meet fellow students outside of their dorm and take helpful advice from their FROG group leader. FROG groups also participate in exciting activities such as songs and other competitive games. One of the major activities that take place is the FROG Olympics. It is a messy, but awesome time; great for getting to know new people.

Other activities that occur throughout September include Opening Convocation, Pirate Party, Decade Dance, Super Sundae Sunday, Bingo and Euchre Tournaments. There are also trips to Niagara Falls, Canada's Wonderland and a Blue Jay's Game.

entreat

Gathering for a weekend of spiritual renewal, the Fall Entreat encourages the bonding of students with each other and to God. With words from a guest speaker, and music from Redeemer's praise band, the time of growth continued to influence the lives of the participants.

mystery MADNESS

This year, the Activities team took a bus load of students on an adventure around the greater Hamilton area. They started off with tasty burgers and fries at an old-style restaurant on the shore of Lake Ontario. After lunch they spent time skipping large stones.

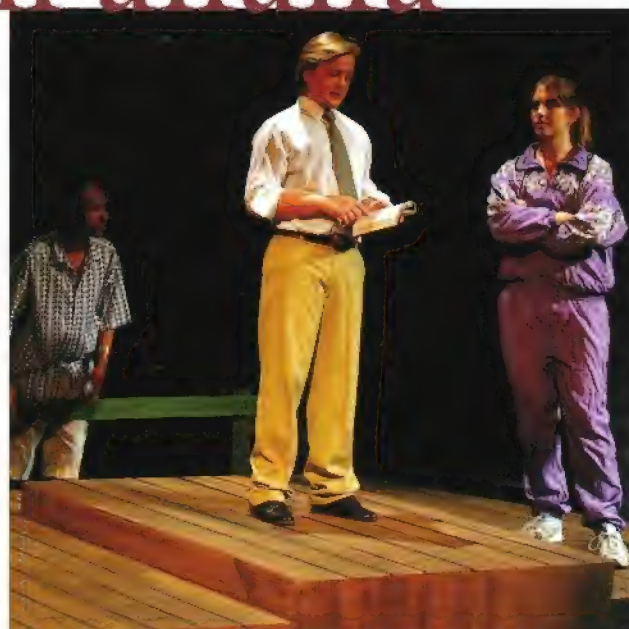

The next mystery stop was at a 5-pin bowling lane, where the group was divided and spread out across all the lanes. Despite a blackened finger, the group had a great time aiming for strikes and spares, while recalling math skills noting their own scores.

And the final surprise was rollerskating! Reserving the floor for solely Redeemerites, they practised new tricks taught by the experienced supervisor. After attempting the twirls and glides, students were ready for the pizza dinner which ended the great day.

Over their years at Redeemer, art students develop their own style and interests, which are portrayed through the exhibitions shown during their final year.

STUDENT art EXHIBITIONS

The Winter Student Exhibition contained the works of six individuals, including Jimmy Bender, Sarah Bokma, Jelma Gorter, Jennifer Haas, Julie Konyndyk, and Michelle Pennells. Various media were used such as photography, painting, drawing, graphics, digital art, furniture restoration, and T-shirt design.

The artists enjoyed the opportunity to talk to people about the inspiration behind their pieces and how they developed.

There is also a Fall exhibition, and the centre image is from Chelsea Schinkel's show which was held at that time.

With the relaxing pianist playing in the background, people took their time observing the works of each of the artists. The gallery was filled to capacity as many friends and family came out to show their support.

trips

hamilton

During Reading Break, 24 students stayed downtown at a local church and served the Hamilton community. Each day they boarded the city bus and traveled to various organizations around the city to do renovations, clean-up and intentionally create relationships through kids programs, elderly visits, and a community meal. Mainly organized and led by students, the Hamilton Mission Trip was a blessing to both the community and to the students who participated.

toronto

The Toronto Mission Trip was a forever changing experience not only for me, but for everyone on the team. We had the opportunity to meet, serve and fellowship with people who would never have crossed our paths before or would have otherwise gone unnoticed. I feel that God moved in our hearts and told us many things on this trip. He reminded us that we are incredibly blessed to live in the circumstances we live in, that there is nothing stopping us from reaching these people in our area and most of all that every single person has a mind, soul and spirit. Consider this: what would you do if your brother or sister was on the street, would you not help them?

(from Mary-Lynne Hurn)

amsterdam

Several students, and their leaders Aleke Dekker and Eileen Fallon, had the opportunity to travel to Amsterdam. They worked with an organization called YWAM (Youth with a Mission) and were housed at their headquarters. They worked with The Cleft (an outreach service for the homeless) causing many to expand their comfort zones. There the group organized a service for the homeless, which allowed them to understand some of the homeless peoples background. This awareness led to an event planned by their leaders where the students would assume homeless positions for a day. They were also able to escape to the countryside of Holland for part of a day and were given an opportunity to visit relatives or to catch the train to Belgium. The trip was terrific and lives were touched forever.

mexico

This year, during the February reading week, 21 students traveled to Ciudad Cancun, Mexico, for a 10 day mission trip with IDEA Ministries. While we were there we had the chance to live with Mexican host families and be introduced to their culture. We ate meals with them, went to church with them, tried to learn Spanish, and slept in hammocks in their homes. We divided into two different teams and spent the week working on two different work sites where we laid block and mixed cement to help with the construction of two churches, Betania and Sinai. Every day at work we also studied Proverbs in small groups. This was an amazing experience and we look forward to returning to Mexico next February.

hotspot

Hotspot provides opportunities for students to come together throughout the school year to worship and experience God's holy power. Held at the Rec Centre, students gather to be led by various groups.

Auctioning off items such as bedtime stories, baked goods, dinners, and music lessons, Hobbies for Hilltop requires the willingness of students to donate towards our sister school in Nigeria. After the first years understand the rules of the game, they eagerly join in the fun, helping to raise the bids until several hundred dollars is reached for a single item.

food

FOOD FOOD FOOD FOOD FOOD FOOD

Our university experience wouldn't be complete without food. Whether it is from the Market, the Caf, events run by Student Senate or other special occasions, we are able to consume more than enough to survive.

Students who are involved in the theatre department tend to produce plays in Redeemer's small theatre, bringing out crowds of friends and other theatre enthusiasts. These plays, like "I Hate Hamlet", require the dedication of many students.

A YEAR IN REVIEW by Julie Konyndyk

The 2007-08 academic year meant many things to many people, and while it would be hard to pin-point what moments and events made up the collective Redeemer experience, I think there are a few events and ideas that are worth revisiting as one body in Christ. Reflecting on the year in such a way allows us to step back and see God's hands at work in our lives, and in this school. We've grown (sometimes consciously, and sometimes in spite of ourselves) as individuals, as a school, and as a community.

It goes without saying that hard work and perseverance are absolutely essential to a successful Redeemer experience. I've looked into the eyes of panicked first-years, disheartened second-years, anxious third-years and frazzled fourth-years. And now that the dust has settled and the grades are out, to all you tired-eyed students: congratulations, you made it! Think about the amount of words you've written, and the astronomical amount of words you've read. We've all come out of 2007-08 a little bit older, and a little bit wiser. Hard work, caffeine, and prayer got us through it.

This past academic year at Redeemer was probably very much like the twenty-four that preceded it: busy, hectic, challenging, and surprisingly rewarding. Attending Redeemer gives all students an opportunity to discover what life is like in God's world. Sometimes those discoveries are disquieting, other times encouraging, and - almost always - over much too quickly. Luckily, even though this year is over, we've got the rest of our lives to continue to discover new things about life and faith, and to keep on seeking out ways of using the gifts that have been both tested and nurtured while studying at Redeemer.

STEPPING OUT 23rd Convocation

Clockwise from top-left: CITB night; hanging out in the library; tasting food at the art exhibition; chillin' on the couches; playing Gotcha; working hard in Figure Drawing; performing at Battle of the Bands; racing for the last chair at the Cake Walk; and centre, our friendly statue.

It isn't hard to have fun at Redeemer. Events are on-going, classes ever-present, and people close-by. These are what makes university such a great experience.

This branch off of Senate is dedicated to organizing events such as the monthly coffeehouses, banquet, and much more. They strive to engage students in activities that will encourage a sense of community at Redeemer.

There seems to be a growing trend towards living greener lives. The Green Team at Redeemer strives to continue to make students aware of the choices they are making and how they can change these for the better. Besides encouraging the use of compost bins, battery collection, and recycling, they organize garbage clean up days, invite guest speakers like Dr. DeWitt, and arrange field trips to places like Faul's beef farm.

OUTDOORS CLUB

Though not the same group as the Green Team, the Outdoors Club encourages students to get out and be active in God's creation. Organizing hikes or going horseback-riding, they enjoy their surroundings and take note of what has been made available to us. Fall, winter or spring, there is always something to do.

RUNT

The Redeemer Model United Nations Team (RUNT) is a group of students interested in international politics and social justice issues. The group competes at model UN conferences, sheds light on world issues, and advocates for solutions.

Kuyper's Cafe

Formed out of students' passion to deepen the understanding of a Christian worldview, Kuyper's Café meets to discuss how to truly realize Christ's Lordship over every square inch of life.

Mosaic Club

The Mosaic Club is about interacting with the different nationalities and cultures represented at Redeemer. Everyone (including Canadian students!) is welcome to experience the richness of cultural diversity.

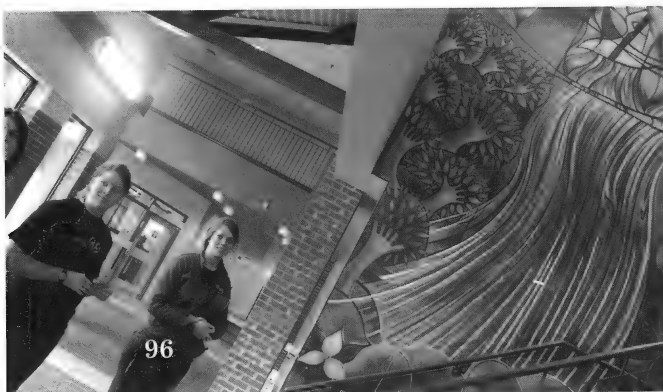

The A Team strives to welcome potential students and their families by hosting FYI days throughout the year.

aTeam

H2O

An organization that exists to connect students with service opportunities in the area, H2O (Help2Others) meets for prayer, emails students about needs for volunteers, and plans outreach events.

Social Justice Team

The Social Justice Team organizes a week of awareness in January, highlighted by a single-day conference in which over 150 students and members of the community gather for workshops and talks on social justice issues.

Teen Club

Teens for Christ is a group of inner-city teens from Hamilton who meet once a week for Bible study, crafts, games, sports, snacks and fellowship. Teen Club strives to provide an evening of fun, fellowship and support for these youth.

living ROCK

Living Rock is a downtown centre for street-involved and high-risk youth. Offering different options to these youth, Living Rock gets them involved in society in a positive way, working in the name of Christ. Redeemer students volunteered during the evening program, which runs three nights a week, participating in movie nights, going to the YMCA, and just hanging out.

SISO

Sharing a similar purpose as the New 2 Canada Kids Club (see description below), SISO works with highschool refugee students. They assist with homework and other various tasks, building relationships at the same time.

Pictured above are some of the club members:
Jessica Wallman, Karis Hogendoorn,

NEW 2 CANADA KIDS CLUB

New 2 Canada Kids Club is a group of volunteers that head down to Philpott Memorial Church on Thursdays and spend time building relationships with a group of 50-70 kids that have recently arrived in Canada. The kids come from Afghanistan, Iran, Myanmar, the Sudan, Somalia, and other countries where they have been witness to some of the world's greatest injustices and horrors. New 2 Canada Kids Club gives these kids an opportunity to be kids again and empowers Redeemer students to play an active role in seeing that happen.

Club Members Include: Amy Speelman, Teresa Zsuffa, Denise Dykstra, Alicia VanderSpek, Calvin VanHarten, Esther Sliedrecht, Janet Breimer, Peter Kranenburg, Sarah VanBelle, Sarah Hogeveen, Bethany Kipp, Jared Dalton, Jennifer Wild, Rubi Garyfalakis, and Heather Westra

Kids Club works with downtown Hamilton churches to teach local youth about Gods love while providing a safe and fun environment for them after school.

MARY LOU COOK

ANGIE
POOT editor's note

I didn't fully know what I was getting into when I accepted the position of the Editor of Anno Domini. However, this past year has forced me to grow as an individual, which isn't always an easy thing to do. Interacting with unfamiliar people is often a bit challenging for me, but I've been given many opportunities to become more comfortable with it, building my confidence and enabling the production of a book that reflects the views of more than one person.

I hope you were able to enjoy the images and stories that we included. It was our goal to cover as many events as possible, however we realize it's impossible to show everything when so much is going on.

I would like to thank everyone who contributed to this year's Anno Domini. We couldn't have done it without you; from sending us dorm pictures, to attending the events, to giving us write-ups.

I have the opportunity to continue to grow and use my creative abilities next year. If there are any suggestions for change, or any events you'd like to be covered, please contact us so we can save a place for them.

Thanks again, and I hope you were able to enjoy this collection of memories.
